Out of the Box

Suaran's mantra from the week before of "Rain rain go away come again another day" didn't work for the GM on the day of her run. In fact perhaps it was Suaran's "come again another day" that the day in question was the day of the GM's run!!!!

Anyway the rain was around all day coming and going, soft and hard, little and torrential with no seeming end in sight. However there were one or two 'windows' of dry weather and it was during one of these that the contracted co-hares, Akz Hole and Rob, went out to lay the trail for the evening as the GM was busy at home cooking her usual mouthwatering delicacies for us all to enjoy later in the day.

With the wet weather, the co-hares decided to forget the bush and keep to the established tracks but as always with Akz Hole there needs to be something a little different each time "otherwise people get bored" he says. This time the difference was the On Out route.

Before we go there however the rain Gods finally decided to take pity on the poor GM as around 5pm the sky started to clear a little and the rain eased to a faint drizzle. By the time the pre-run circle was called the rain had all but gone and the evening seemed to hold a pleasant surprise. The assembled members were a little small in number compared to previous weeks but were keen to start nevertheless.

By the time of their return however the numbers have swollen to a very respectable 40 members and 2 guests (Pamela & Woon) and co-Hare Rob. This great news as, for the last several weeks now, the numbers attending the runs have been over 50% of the 2012 Membership which is good to see.

Back to the run. The Co-hares decided to take the runners in through the PBA waterfall area at the top of the Botanical Gardens. It is not a common route to take and in most instances, when it is used, the trail is coming out that way. With the amount of rain the 'falls' were thunderous, gushing and beautiful to behold. The climb up the hill was steep but much easier going up than down especially when wet and then left on the hash highway all the way to 46. It was just before this point that the heavy rain started again during the setting and the poor co-hares looked very quickly liked drown rats! On through 47, across the road and back on the tracks which were running in small streams of water by this time. A slip here, a slip there and an armful of thorns for the trouble. Left again onto the On Down trail leading to the Shooting Range but left again and On Down into the Quarry just after the Peace Trail crossing. While at 46 the co-hares had been warned of Bees on the Quarry trail and sure enough Akz Hole found at least two of them whilst Rob escaped unscathed. A quick detour prevented the later runners falling foul of them and then the last difficult section back home, with Rob commenting on how tricky it will be later on.

At least no-one got stung on the run itself but Spermwhale did grab hold of a thorny bush and got a handful for his trouble. But apart from this there were no other casualties and all returned safe and sound although some from very different directions than the paper trail.

The rain thankfully had given up and the evening was extremely pleasant. The food was excellent as always from the GM and soon disappeared. The lights came on in the quarry to present a beautiful backdrop for the evening and a good time was had by all it seems. Many thanks to the GM for another great Harriets evening and for the crate of beer.

The Circle

Pamela was welcomed as a guest (Woon had disappeared) and introduced to us all. She is thinking of staying in Penang so we are hopeful we will see much more of her at the runs in future.

May was then welcomed but this time not as a guest but as the latest MEMBER to join the Harriets. Welcome officially to the Club May. Now someone else other than Tiny can give the men a run for their money!!!

Charges from the floor saw the GM put Hari Hari Mau on ice. The charge...wearing outrageously colourful hash pants. "Hurts my eyes" she said.

Mini Sausage then charged Supergirl and Toddy Tan for calling him up and asking where the runsite was. On being told the Quarry they proceeded to TAR College. "Everyone except you two know the Quarry means the Botanical Gardens" Said Mini.

Spiky then called out Hair Do and asked the crowd what the difference was with her this week. "NEW HAIR DO" came the shouted reply. Very nice too!!

The GM was then asked to take the seat of honour and was presented with a birthday cake as it was her birthday on the day. Some lovely renditions of "Happy Birthday Fk You" could be heard echoing around the area. Mini Sausage duly anointed her with cream.

No sooner had the GM vacated the 'hot' seat than she was asked to sit once more to receive the grateful thanks from the crowd for a good run, delicious food and free beer. Many thanks Justbeer.

The Run

Courtesy of Tiny this week, as the GM felt she could not comment on her own run!

The Quarry

G.M.s Birthday Run

The afternoon had not looked promising and we arrived at the quarry in a light drizzle. Various people were giving G.M. strife but she was giving back as good as she got - as usual. The circle was called and after a few announcements about upcoming runs and events the contractor was called in to describe the run.

We were told to follow pink paper at the start which would give way to white near the end. The run was longish so not to saunter too much. We were left in the dark about checks and bars but informed that there was no paper at the start of the run. We were to go through the gardens, up the steps and under the barbed wire. So off we trodded

Once in the gardens Money and myself decided that it being the wet time of the year the run would be slippery, less so for the front runners, so we instantly upped the speed and pulled a little ahead.

Akshole's instructions were easy to follow and we soon found ourselves skirting the hill on the other side of the barbed wire.

As usual I went into dream mode and was jogging comfortably along, only to encounter a huge fallen tree and without thought started to scramble through the branches which was a slow tedious job. Half way through I looked up and saw GMan pelting along a path about two metres below me. At least I could have a good laugh at my stupidity.

We continued skirting and wound round to the waterfall which was in full spate after the recent heavy rain. The power of that falling water never fails to impress and everyone wanted to linger but remembered that it gets dark very early at the moment so off we went.

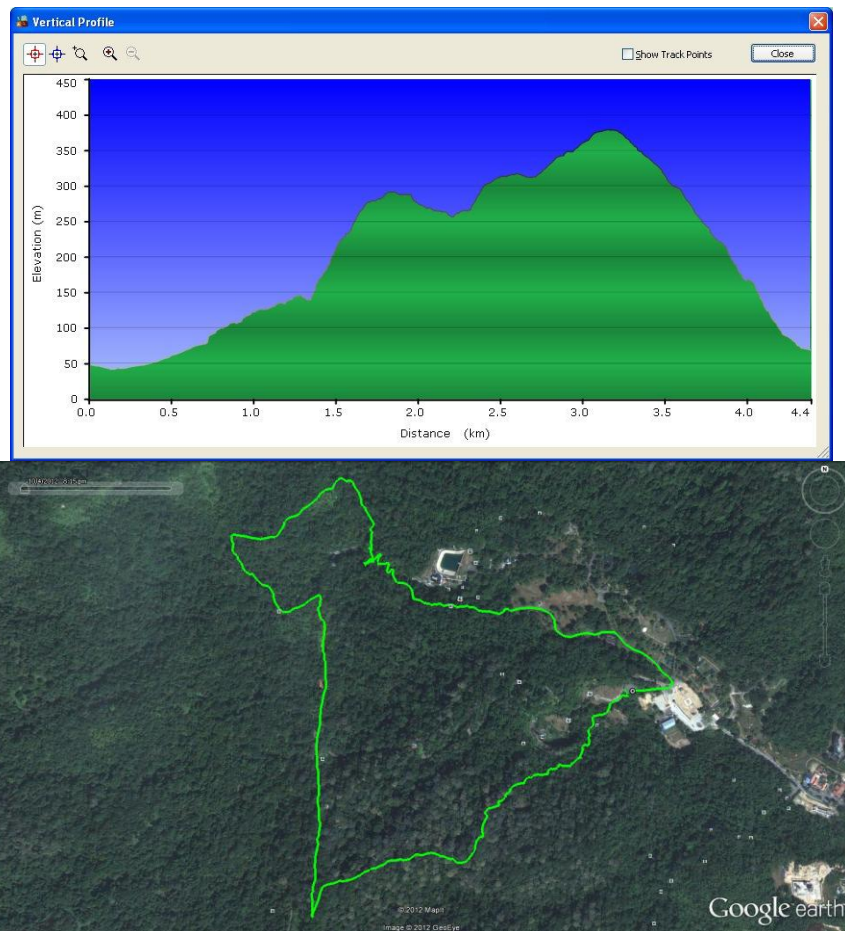

The run continued with the usual hazards of machine gun, slippery rocks, protruding roots. We all enjoyed the first up and then groaned our way up the second!

The on down was very slippery and so Jorgen and I went into geriatric mode and carefully tottered our way down and came back to the quarry via the toilets.

The run was an excellent workout so we were then in need of copious quantities of liquid to replace the lost sweat. It is amazing how one's drunken habits can be so easily excused!

The circle was very lively and GM was iced more than once- the culprits should be really ashamed as she now has a dreadful hacking cough! The food was really delicious and I saw several hashers going for a third round. The location was perfect as the black clouds rolled away and left a dry evening.

Many thanks Justbeer for yet another fantastic Thursday evening.

Funnies

1) Chicken sandwiches.

A little boy and a little girl attended the same school and became friends. Every day they would sit together to eat their lunch. They discovered that they both brought chicken sandwiches every day! This went on all through the fourth and fifth grades, until one day he noticed that her sandwich wasn't a chicken sandwich.

He said, 'Hey, how come you're not eating chicken, don't you like it anymore?'

She said 'I love it but I have to stop eating it.'

'Why?' he asked.

She pointed to her lap and said 'Cause I'm starting to grow little feathers down there!'

'Let me see' he said.

'Okay' and she showed him.. He looked and said, 'That's right. You are! Better not eat any more chicken.'

He kept eating his chicken sandwiches until one day he brought peanut butter.

He said to the little girl, 'I have to stop eating chicken sandwiches; I'm starting to get feathers down there too!' She asked if she could look, so he showed her!

She said, 'Oh, my God, it's too late for you! You've already got the NECK and GIZZARDS!!!'

2) My wife left a note on the fridge...

"It's not working! I can't take it anymore;
I've gone to stay at my friends!"

I opened the fridge, the light came on and the beer was still cold...
What the hell is she talking about?!!

3) A man was having problems with premature ejaculation so he decided to go to the doctor. He asked the doctor what he could do to cure his problem. In response, the doctor said, "When you feel like you are getting ready to ejaculate, try startling yourself."

That same day the man went to the store and bought himself a starter pistol. All excited to try this suggestion, he ran home to his wife.

At home, he found his wife was in bed, naked and waiting. As the two began, they found themselves in the celebrated 69 position. The man, moments later, felt the sudden urge to ejaculate and fired the starter pistol.

The next day, the man went back to the doctor. The doctor asked, "How did it go?"

The man answered, "Not that well. When I fired the pistol, my wife shit on my face, bit 3 inches off my dick, and my neighbour came out of the closet with his hands in the air."
