NEWSLETTER 2231

GM's Note:

One more week to our Joint Hash Ball Event.....last CHANCE to buy YOUR TICKETS from Tiny if you haven't done so. It will be a FANTASTIC evening for ALL.

Arriving at the runsite, I was surprise to see part of Charlie market carpark fenced up ready for more developments. The subcontractor was telling us that the present carpark will be redeveloped into a road leading to the hash highway where apts will be built on both sides. Our future Charlie market run will be relocated some 250m into the hash highway instead of the present one. His workers were then seen constructing on up steps on one of the slopes and according to the subcontractor , it's for hikers like us to start the hike once the fencing is done and the no entry sign is put up towards the hash highway. How considerate of the developer indeed.....

We arrived at the site to be greeted by an imposing silver fence giving the smelly site a rather futuristic appearance. Of course hashers knew why it was there. The first suggestion was another new condo and all I could think of was the proximity of the cemetery and the fact that it would be different with its Halloween theme. This idea was soon pooh poohed with the suggestion that a new road was being constructed – was it part of the new highway to Batu Ferringhi or just a convenient access road for some big wig.

The circle was called and after guests had been welcomed Camel Toe told us the run was beautiful and there were no checks. So the pack jogged (front runners) or ambled (back runners) to the hash highway and started up the slope. Rumours and anecdotes were being swapped and these tailed off when we entered the jungle to the left. We scrabbled up the slope and loud puffing and panting scared any wild life we might have seen away. We skirted to the right as usual and I was trying to get into a good rhythm so hadn't noticed I was running on black paper (can I help it if I'm not prejudiced?) luckily Itchi Bai called me back to the correct paper but later punished me for stupidity!

The run continued, down a bit, up a bit, round a bit until we reached the real on up. This slowed everyone down somewhat but was a good on up. We got to the top and then over and back down to the highway and a great jog back to the site.

Camel Toe was right. It was a beautiful run Many thanks.
