NEWSLETTER 2236

GM's Note:

X'mas spirit fills the atmosphere@ Beverly Hills and more than 45 hashers and 3 guests turned up for the HarrietsX'mas run. Everyone was in a jovial mood. Thanks for the fine weather too.

The short to medium run was actually perfect for today's celebration. The 1st runner Goodyear took 40 mins while others came back at irregular intervals while Silentman and Mother hen being the last two was out by 7.15pm. Many Thanks to the runsetters- Viking and Manfred,

The crowd had then mushroom into more than 50's plus with the arrival of the Dinner Club members just before dinner was served at 8pm. Everyone was given 2 free beers for a start and eventually free flow of beers and wine after the circle was concluded.

It was a fantastic evening- foods were plentiful, varied and delicious, free flow of beers and wine, and a fantastic X'mas spirit one could imagine at the runsite. We even have aX'mas choir comprising of Mini Sausage, Iceman, Pussy Whipped and Big Willy during the circle. Many Thanks guys!!!.

Speedy recovery to Justbeer who is down with Dengue.....

21st Dec is the memorial run for Monty Python at 1.30pm from Tar College new road to Haunted House. Everyone is welcome to join. Bring your own food.

Burst

Christmas came early this year at Beverly Hill. A good turn out of 30+ diehards gathered around, all in party mood! Urging the GM to start the run right on the dot at 6, the front runners were seen scrambling up the slope in a jiffy. As we anticipate a good sumptuous spread provided by this year host/hostess aka G-man & G-string was thereward, all of us thought it shouldn't be a long run, so SCB'ing was a no-no tonight as I promised GM I'll do the burst. The back runners as usual took the time treading gingerly in between vines and prickly plants, slowly but surely following papers hit the designated trails. I forgot how many on-ups or on-downs on this undulating terrain, remembered breaking the bar, went over wild boar playgrounds then reached the top of a hill. Then we heard Speedhound and the boys shouting for help down below. Apparently they scb and lost papers. As good Samaritans Silent man and I decided to wait for them and asked the rest to carry on. Waited for about 10 mins or so, Long hair, then Iceman emerged and said they saw no-one. A futile wait caused waste of day light both of us then quickened our pace and eventually hit the on-down trail. Zig-zagging, slipping and sliding as our shoes were heavily caked with mud. As we were descending towards the cars all we could see were santas, satarinas, Speedhound and the boys and hash diners etc among others. Kudos to the run-setters for an appropriate work-out to whet our appetite later. Edna
