GM's Notes

I thought that Silent Man was going to be busy cooking, that's why he changed the time to 1.00pm to set the run on Thursday but it was really because he was on the 'school run'.

Beauty Queen, Sai Seng, Silent Man and I set off at the bottom end just past the fence at Leader Garden and after a short climb a deserted hut came into view where Sai Seng then excused himself and disappeared for a short while.

We cut across the bush and were soon on the tar road near the mini weir at the PBA. Sai Seng decided to climb on the left hill rather than walk on the road. After a short discussion he told BQ and I to go on ahead and he and James would meet us on the hill going up. BQ and I duly made our way to the bottom of the hill and proceeded to wait..... And wait!..... And Wait! We waited for over 30 minutes and I became concerned that it would be too late to climb the hill and make it back to the runsite in time for the start. After trying to phone and calling out but getting no reply BQ and I made our way back to the runsite leaving the guys to finish setting by themselves.

By 5.40pm I was at the runsite and poor BQ was still sitting there in her hash gear as Silent Man had her keys in his car and they had only just got back. So there she sat while he showered. Apparently while we waited for them, they in turn waited about 45 minutes for us before realising we had returned to the run site. Such is the mismanagement of setting a run when you split up!!!

The pack gathered and Take Care, Smiling Horse, Money, AML and Rupiah wanted to start early since it was going to be a medium to long run so off they went. By 6.00pm the remaining pack also departed.

By 7.00pm the first runner was not yet back and it took another 20 minutes before an exhausted Goodyear appeared. Others followed after that with "GOOD RUN" being heard all around and the General saying it was "one of the best he has done for some time".

At 7.55pm the five who went in early finally appeared together with Grasshopper who was walking in his socks since the soles of his shoes had come off!! They commented on the difficult terrain that made the trail slippery in places and the number of hills!!!

However after a short rest, good food and a few beers everyone was recovered enough to first have the circle and then settled down for a great evening after that.

Thanks to Silent Man for the great run, the food and for hosting another great evening.

Circle.

1. Our guest for the evening was Wendy, who always seems to pick an evening of difficult runs to join us. But Welcome. Welcome. Welcome.
2. Take Care was next upon the ice throne but for once it was not for misdeeds but to receive his mug for accomplishing 500 runs with the Harriets. Well Done TC!!
3. Ronnie Tour must certainly have been touring since he hadn't been to hash for quite some time. Welcome back Ronnie this is just to remind you to come more often in future.
4. The early birds were next to be given the cold bum treatment as they came out last. Just think what time they would have returned it if they had started on time!!
5. The final icing was reserved for the Hare of the Day in acknowledgement for a great run, and good food. Thanks Silent Man. Thanks must also go to Ronnie for his rendition of a silent song to a Silent Man with full actions. Hilarious!!

There has been a second large earthquake in Nepal. AML is still taking monetary donations should anyone wish to give.

Laying hashes is hungry work

Twas a long run, even by Goodyear's standards

Takecare runs too fast for the camera

Twin towers

Takecare assaulted by stick wielding Harriet

So that's what its really for!

So many to ice, not enough ice

500 Runs. Get a life, get a life life life.

Ronnie Tour iced for impersonating a Thai police officer

Giving the Silent Man a Silent Song

No need for a comment . . .

Social drinking
