Hash House Harriets Penang

Run: 2357

Date: 13 April 2017

Venue: Tembaga Waterfall

Bunny: Molly

GM's Run Notes

This was Molly's first hosting after her being unwell for some time. As such she wanted to make it a good evening for everyone with a good run and great food. I think in all she achieved both.

Leaving the run setting to Sai Seng, Viking and myself, we met at the waterfall and it was a sight to behold since it was flowing majestically down the hill side in grand display after the recent rains. It's a pity though the surrounding area was not so grand as there was litter everywhere!

We head in past the badminton court and on to the tea house. After that across the stream, turn left and up the steps to the small shrine where we then, just afterwards, turned right and climbed up the bank finally meeting the steps going up to the higher tea house. Exiting into the clearing we had a great view of Farlim and the far side hills. We didn't linger too long however and headed across the open area to hit the bush once more the other side and started on a steep descent. The soil was wet and slippery and naturally slowed us down and in places quite a few prickly bushes also contributed to a slower pace.

We exited onto the dirt track that runs down from the tea house but going that way would have been too easy. We followed it around the bend and then went in on the left once more. However, we then turned right and found an old seemingly long forgotten path through the bush, teeming with mosquitoes (hopefully not having Dengue as I was bitten a number of times and so were others on the evening run).

It was a tricky route as it was over slippery rocks and wet ground once again. However we finally emerged at the back of Farlim wet market where we turned then right and climbed the big bank behind the condos. After that it was a long but fairly gentle climb until we met the pathway leading back to the tea house. Not wanting to confuse the evening's Hashers with paper at the tea house itself, we cut a trail behind the smaller tea house and from then on making our way down and back to the runsite. If people thought we meandered a bit it was because the undergrowth had overgrown somewhat making it more difficult to find the correct pathway down.

A guest Kathy got a lift with me while Rajan, Palani (Mission Impossible) came with Saylor. About 10 mins after the Hashers had gone, 3 more guests, led by Wet-In-Between, turned up and made ready to go in. I hoped that they could make it in the light as they had no torches with them but the evening's weather was darkening quickly with the onset of rain approaching at any time hence it would get dark earlier.

Iceman was back in just over the hour, complaining that he must be getting slower since he normally does Harriets' runs around 45-50 mins. The other FRBs trickled in after that and then it was a case of waiting for the slow ones plus the guests.

Guest Kathy was a virgin hasher and I did wonder how she would cope with the run as it was tricky in places. But she stayed with Fancy Pants and finished while still light so kudos to her!

Around 7.40pm dinner was served even though there was still some to return. It was delicious with both mutton and chicken dishes with rice, curry puffs and followed by a wonderful carrot cake for dessert.

Around 8.00pm Saylor led the rest of the hashers safely home with our usual sweeper Silent Man bringing up the rear. Even the 3 late arrivals came back at the same time at which the hares gave a sigh of relief!

The food was more than plentiful and continued to be eaten through the evening being washed down with copious beers of course before we had the circle.

 Next Week we are at Bukit Gambir Chinese Temple for Toddy Tan's run. Please come and support him**

Once again we have to say auf wiedersehen to Fancy Pants who is heading back to Germany this week. The good news is that he and Karin are planning to be back later in the year. As usual though he had to do his 'fancy pant' strip for the Hash.

The Circle

A charge from the VGM saw Imposter hit the ice. The charge was for being noisy and disorderly during circle time probably because Counterfeit wasn't there to keep him in check!

A second charge from the VGM saw Money exchange places with Imposter. His crime was seemingly having the 'hots' for Hot Spot as he kept asking where she was and whether she was back at the runsite yet. Money's reply was that he just wanted to get a wifi connection from a hot spot. But who mentioned G-spot???

Bunny on ice! Many thanks to Molly for the delicious food and a good run. It is also great to see her back attending hash as she used to do before her illness.

The GM then called out Mission Impossible to be introduced properly to the members as he had arrived late and the fact he is also the GM of the IA Hash.

A last charge from the floor saw Hash Cash on ice. Not to cool her Hot Spot but because as a committee member she should wear a hash t-shirt!!
