GM's Run Notes

After setting a short slippery run, with a carpet of dry leaves in places, we went home. When I got back in the evening the deafening sound from the digger drowned out any conversation. The paper going in at the beginning had disappeared along with the slope!! The digger was perched precariously on the slope as the driver dug into the earth to coax out the boulders. But since we had permission we were still able to go in and out.

We had a smallish crowd of 30 something hashers along with guests and invitees. One of the guests, King, had already started early at 5.30 after claiming he was slow. W'Anchor, another invitee, was going to do the hash for the first time since ankle surgery and so was a little nervous as to how it would hold up.

Accompanied by the deafening noise the hashers finally went in through the gate, veered left on the slope and disappeared from sight. Around 45 minutes later Goodyear and Kopitiam came back and the others trickled in after that. W'Anchor came back feeling good about his ankle but there was no sign of King. Our usual slower runners however returned with King in tow. All were out by 7.30 including Wind, who rejoined as a member later in the evening.

The Bunny laid out the food and the aroma of the vegetable curry was mouth-wateringly tantalising, along with fried chicken, Loh Bak and fried veggies. People came back to partake of thirds and even fourths it was that good!!

After all were sated we had the usual circle. Many thanks go to Uncle Bee for the hosting and the delicious food. The evening was once again a great success.

W'Anchor then charged Imposter with not understanding Punjabi. It was a complicated charge to understand and actions speak louder than words they say but even these actions were hard to get the meaning of the charge. However we did learn from imposter that what he was trying to say was that he understood Patiala Peg which is 4 finger measure of liquor!!

The GM then introduced Kasia to the Ice and to the assembled Harriets just to make sure they know who she is, as she is a recent new member. Welcome, welcome, welcome!

Harriet Humour

Sitting in a bar having drinks with a friend.....

I casually pointed to two old drunks sitting across the bar from us and said "That's us in ten years".

She said
"That's a mirror, you dipshit"

A guy goes to a supermarket and notices a beautiful blonde who waves at him and says hello. He's rather taken back, because he can't place where he knows her from, so he asks, "Do you know me?" To which she replies, "I think you're the father of one of my kids."

Now he thinks back to the only time he has ever been unfaithful to his wife and says, "Oh my god, are you the stripper from my bachelor party that I laid on the pool table with all my buddies watching, while your partner whipped me with wet celery and then stuck a carrot in my butt?" She replies, "No, I'm your son's math teacher."
