GM's Run Notes

The beautiful warm morning did not at all suggest what the evening was to be! Three women and the Hare, Snap Cop set out with no idea about a trail so we decided to cross the concrete bridge over the stream and turned left. Lo and behold we found old paper to guide us and onwards we went. The trail had been set by another Chapter and so instead of re-inventing the wheel we copied!! On and on we went and I recognised where the trail was leading to.

As Beauty Queen and I chatted away, Snap Cop and No Choice disappeared ahead. BQ called out many times but no response was heard. I assured her that they'll soon run out of bullets and as I had them they will have to stop and wait for us to catch up.

We had just crossed a small hill to climb upwards when we were confronted by a frightened No Choice and an equally shaking Snap Cop.

It turns out that No Choice had got even further ahead than Snap Cop when she came literally face to face with a hissing, standing cobra with flared hood right in front of her. She was lucky that it had hissed in warning otherwise she may have been bitten. It was that close and No Choice had not seen it as she was concentrating on clipping the paper. She fled and fell dropping everything including her glasses and hat.

Gathering my inner strength I lead them back towards the sighting knowing though that the cobra had flared its hood as a defence measure and would have 'snaked' off once the path was clear. However it was still nerve wrecking. We managed to find the hat and stapler but we could not find her rather expensive glasses. Snap Cop combed the area with a stick but without success. Leading them out to the ledge I went back one more time for another look whilst the others comforted a shaken No Choice. But again no luck!

Knowing where we were we decided to take the easy route back. This entailed a long climb up to the top ridge and as we went on we naturally discussed No Choice's hissing Cobra. Soon we were at the top and on the On Down path. It had taken just over 2.5 hrs but all were very happy to be out of the jungle on this occasion.

By 6.00pm it was thundering, lightning flashed and the rain fell, as the faithful gathered waiting for the off. Most had decided to just go around the Botanical Gardens and only a hardy 4 of: Iceman, Drippy Dick, Silent Man and Virgin Handbag did the actual run. It was a small crowd but the numbers grew as the dinner club started to appear. There were plenty of fruits, noodles and chicken to be had after which we had a quick circle.

Thank you to all who braved the weather and came to support the hare and many thanks to Snap Cop for his first hosting which turned out to be quite an exciting one.

By the end of the evening everyone realised there was a cobra somewhere inside wearing No Choice's glasses but I wonder who is going to be brave enough to ask for them back!!

The Circle

Somewhat recovered from her fright earlier in the day, the GM put No Choice on ice to recount to the assembly the story of the hissing cobra and the missing glasses. So are you sitting comfortably? Then I'll begin.....

The Circle

The GM then called Beauty Queen to the ice.
Apparently whilst setting the run BQ was saying what she will do after she retires just to bring in some money. What is that I hear you ask?
To be an Apom Lady!!!

Hash House Harriets Penang

The Circle

No sooner had she left the ice than the GM had her back once more as she was complaining about wanting the Christmas Run at the runsite and not at a restaurant as had been suggested....

Hare on Ice. Many thanks to Snap Cop on his first hosting for the Harriets. It was a good run and good tasty food. The weather wasn't so kind but then again there were no cobras on the evening run thank goodness!!
