On Sec Note's

Run: 2439

Date: 8 November 2018

Bunny: Ferrari

Runsite: Bee Gallery

When I arrived at 7.00pm at Bee Gallery the hashers were already returning back to the runsite after doing their run. The Bunny was inviting the present members to partake of the food and a glass of wine to anyone who wanted some! Lorenza @ Ferrari has been a member for some time now but unfortunately cannot attend many of the runs due to other commitments but always lends her support when she is in town.

The food was followed by Tiramisu and Polenta crumble which was delicious. Unfortunately after the food people started drifting away and only the hard core stayed for the circle.

Hash House Harriets Penang

Thank you to Ferrari for her virgin hosting. It was a lovely evening and great food and run!

*Next week we are at Om Kitchen,
for the Diwali Run, guest fees RM30
Please come and support*

Om Kitchen is just before the Sri Meenakshi Hindu Temple in Jalan Kebun Bunga (before the big car park on the way to Bee Gallery).

Please respect the environment which we enjoy each week and ensure that no rubbish is left at the site, including cigarette butts, scraps and general litter. Thank you.

Burst by Moira our frequent guest

Mm, GM JustBeer advises that it is food good to have the Burst in by Sunday... so of course it will be pigeon-posted at 11:11pm on the 11th of Nov with a red poppy pinned to the winged messenger, ha ha!

Weather has been damp, serving up a cool and moist run to look forward too. The bunny, Ferrari, did a great job of briefing us, making sure we all paid attention to the 2 sorts of paper to look out for.

Saturated with clear instructions and imbued with confidence, we moved briskly towards the Indian temple and made 2 left turns (on road) to reach some steps, and abandoned house on the right, and the hill with an, “*Oh dear me!!*” of a steep slope - which signals that the Hash run has started, proper... no more kidding around, ha ha!

After a few initial muddy slopes, the route settled down into a nice lope up through the forest and an anti-clockwise run up and down over the hills.

We dropped down to a broad flat sandy stream with orangey sand, crossed it to find a large and gracious Chinese tomb perched up on our right.

Instead of facing the sea, as is usual, this grave was facing the flowing stream. It was flanked by an intricately-carved pair of little stone lions, which seemed to be poised to prance... and they had the cutest pair of perky ears.

It is such a joy to find graves in good condition and all their decorations intact through the ages.

As I remember it, the trail rose after this through reasonably clear jungle except that Sai Seng and run-setters had probably located every foot vine, coil of liana, to keep us busy and entertained every step of the way.

There was an eyebrow-raising point where paper lay behind and down-slope (steep slope!) of a huge double tree-trunk.

It's one of those moments when you think, aiyah... I've lost paper, again... where-where-where, ha ha ha!

We dropped down to the lowest part of the run, when Hong Seng housing estate (on privately owned land - mainly set aside as cemetery) where no 2 houses look the same - displayed itself downhill, on our right.

It held a calm and serene feeling, at this evening hour.

Another part of the trail I will never forgive Sai Seng for - is where paper seemed to need us to go through what looked like an opening among trees and vines that offered a rabbit-hole (but heading uphill) about 12" square... maybe slightly larger than the absolutely delicious tray(s) of tiramisu to be served as just deserts later.

Taking a deep breath and trying to encourage myself by repeating Sai Seng's mantra to all Hashers (originally to Mini Sausage who had iced him for setting impossibly small loops and hoops of flaming vine to leap through, I think), “ *If Sai Seng can do it, so can YOU!* "... I decided that in honour of the occasion, instead of crawling through on my knees, I would crawl through on my... elbows, ha ha ha!

When you're alone in the forest, even which body part to (ab)use first, becomes a form of entertainment, ha ha!

Getting into the feel of the trail set, it was uphill from the rabbit hole, to the top of the ridge around sunset, and so very thankfully... a really clear well-worn hard trail. Oh, not hard to walk, but reassuringly hard underfoot.

It helps so much to know there is no more slip-sliding-away and bashing about needed after dusk.

Boing-boing-boing downhill till we reached the familiar concrete arched bridge over the stream flowing from our right, and sharp left past the lawn and mosque to reach HOME.

Just 3 minutes left to 11:11pm, so I better wrap it up!

I often remember the food better than the route and tonight's delights included a melt-in-the-mouth tiramisu by the bunny. The moment the first cake was scarfed down, another identical one appeared so quickly, it felt like magic!

It was around this time that I started to wonder if tiramisu originated in Italy, and if perhaps, Ferrari(s) also come from there.

My rule of thumb is that if it ends with an "i", she or it... is probably Italian.

Drunk on the delicious tiramisu, I wondered if I ever have the evil luck to have a nickname, might it be Papalotti...?

Back to well-earned desserts and makan, there was another huge baked cake, thoughtfully cut into squares, and delicious Chinese dishes like chicken with ginger & black fungus and mixed veg of broccoli, cauliflower & carrot.

A run and occasion that will be easy to remember, with or without black-eyed red poppies.

Many thanks to Ferrari, committee and all for another fantastic run!

On on! ~Period

Circle

1. Welcome the guests. Bibi Snake Charmer and Seok Chin (Moira had already left).
2. Toddy Tan was next for the good reason he is a good sport and the GM could not resist putting him on ice once more...with or without his glasses!!

Hash House Harriets Penang

3. Black German was next as he has been the Lothario of the Hash for many years and no-one can match him. (if you don't know what it means look it up!!)

4. Thanks to the cook she's true blue.....

5. Bunny on Ice. She may be small. She may not be around too often but she is certainly a revved up lady. But unfortunately Mercedes won the F1 Constructors championship once again this year... Maybe next year????

Funnies

A naked women robbed a bank. Nobody could remember her face.

A police officer stops a car.

Officer: "Your driver's license please."

Driver: "I'm really sorry, I forgot."

Officer: "At home?"

Driver: "No, to do it."

Why is women's soccer so rare?

It's quite hard to find enough women willing to wear the same outfit.

I was making Russian tea. Unfortunately I cannot fish the teabag out of the vodka bottle.

Q: What do politicians and diapers have in common?

A: Both should be changed regularly, and both for the same reason.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"I LEARNED THAT COURAGE WAS NOT THE ABSENCE OF FEAR, BUT THE TRIUMPH OVER
IT. THE BRAVE MAN IS NOT HE WHO DOES NOT FEEL AFRAID, BUT HE WHO CONQUERS
THAT FEAR."
