On Sec Note's

Run: 2454

Date: 21 February 2019

Bunny: Pussycat

Runsite: Quarry, Botanical Gardens

Dear Hashers want to start with something else. Yesterday we had around 34 people at the run. The Bunny had ordered 40 packets murtabak. So that should be enough for everyone. But still some people had no food, because it was finished. Please take only 1 packet per person.

The weather looked like rain and distant thunder could be heard when I left the house to do to the runsite. I would have like to go in a bit earlier, but I also wanted to finish my book, choices choices. After the normal announcements we went in to do the run. Rupiah and myself teamed up, we were looking for Posh, but she was nowhere to be seen. All the fast runners ran past us as we made our way in. Only Beauty Queen, Silentman and 2 others were behind us. Luckily it had rained the night before so it was not so dry and we had a bit more grip then last week. Since we started in the back there is nothing to tell about the hashers that passed us. Up it went, skirting, up, skirting, up, skirting, up and then down. That sums up the run. Silentman had caught up with us and was in the back. The down was a bit scary, we looked at the drop and were not sure on how to reach the rope, so we did it on our bum as we were scared that we might slip and then tumble down. We came out just before dark. Luckily Beauty Queen had already returned to the runsite as we thought it would not be wise to do the down in the dark.

Back at the runsite the sky looked like it was going to rain. And during the circle it really started to rain. The circle was paused so everybody could get an umbrella. The circle continued. The rain was very heavy and after the circle everybody left. Thanks Pussycat for an enjoyable evening which was rudely interrupted by the rain.

Next Week we are at Island Glades, FTAC Temple, for Mission Impossible's run

Please come and support

Circle

1. Welcome to the guests. We had Peter Wong from THK, our old member Take Care and our old friend Peter visiting once again from Australia. It is always good to see you.
2. The GM then called Posh. Her crime was for not wearing a hash T-shirt and for complaining to all about her financial woes.
3. Feeding the monkeys can lead to a RM500 fine. That didn't stop Speedhound though who gave an orange to one monkey which then started a deluge of monkeys arriving on the scene. After the fine was pointed out to her she said she would rather pay the fine than buy beer for everyone!! A true naturalist indeed.

4. Our old friend and guest Peter Moor was next. Peter is an old Penang Hasher from years ago when the Aussies were here in force and now comes back, usually with his lovely wife Susan, almost every year to visit and run Hash with the Harriets. This year however he is a bachelor as Susan stayed behind. But it is great to see him once again and give our regards to Susan. Not sure if he has a hash name but we should give him one next time if not!! Something with a cock or cockerel should be included!!

5. Bunny on ice. Many thanks to Pussycat for hosting the evening. It's a pity the weather didn't hold off but we all had a good time despite the rain.

Funnies

My neighbors are listening to great music. Whether they like it or not.

It is important to make breaks between individual exercises. I personally stick to breaks of about 3-4 years.

Sometimes I drink water - just to surprise my liver.

Hearing voices in your head is normal. Listening to them is quite common. Arguing with them – acceptable. It is only when you lose that argument that you get in real trouble.

Of course I have a talent. I'm really good in bed. Sometimes I sleep more than 9 hours in one go.

“If I wanted to commit suicide, I would climb up to the height of your ego and jump down to your IQ level.”

First rule of Sundays: If you can't reach it from your couch, you don't need it.

According to my mirror I am pregnant. The father is Nutella.

... and out of the chaos, a sentence came to me: “Laugh and be happy, it could be worse!” ... and so I laughed and was happy and it really became worse.

If you had to decide between a diet and a piece of chocolate, would you prefer dark, white or milk chocolate?
